RESTAURANT & BAR

ELEVATED SENSES

Welcome to GOLVET

High above Berlin, in the historic Löser & Wolf building from the 1920s, a space for extraordinary sensory experiences opens up on the 8th floor, 32 meters above the ground.

Before you lies the city with its history, energy, and constant change. The view stretches across Potsdamer Platz—from the Victory Column to the Reichstag dome to Tempelhof.

The New National Gallery, Berlin Modern, Picture Gallery, Berlin State Museums, Philharmonic Hall, and State Library form a unique ensemble of culture and zeitgeist.

Culinary delights await you, bearing the signature of an artist.

Nicholas Hahn inspires with technical excellence, a deep fascination for the product, and an uncompromising focus on taste.

On the walls, street art tells the story of a city that never stands still.

Berlin is raw and sophisticated at the same time—just like our cuisine.

Let your gaze wander. Let your senses arrive.

Sit back, enjoy, and simply be happy—in the restaurant, at the bar, there's no better Manhattan feeling in Berlin!
